

BIOGRAPHY

Steve Han (Ph. D., MBA)

Managing Director & Consultant,
Lean Design Asia Inc.
Munro & Associates Inc.

Steve Han works to lead business development and consulting activities in Asia – Korea, Japan, China and India with Lean Design® and Design Profit® Solutions in several key industries including; Automotive, Aerospace, Shipbuilding, High Tech, and Defense.

Steve also leads multi-tasking roles as consultant, adviser, speaker, writer and adjunct professor at ASSIST (Seoul School of Integrated Science and Technology) since 2011 with Munro and Associates Inc.

Steve's industrial experiences from the Automotive, High Tech, Shipbuilding and Heavy Industry are basis for his activities including key accounts such as Samsung Electronics, LG Electronics, Hyundai Motors, Kia Motors, Doosan, Mando, General Motors, Ssangyong Motor, Renault Samsung Motor, Korean Aerospace Industry, Korean Airline, Samsung Heavy Industry, Deawoo Shipbuilding Industry, COAVIS, Raycops, Midea and many others since 1987.

Steve's Domain Knowledge ranges from Lean Design®, Costing, Lean manufacturing, New Product Development (NPD) and Product Lifecycle Management on top of his industrial experiences. All of these are drivers for his leadership as an innovator, consultant and trainer for those who are looking to improve the cost and quality of products.

Steve has delivered many seminars and workshops in China and Korea over the past 4 years on behalf of Munro & Associates, Inc.

Steve's educational background includes a Bachelor and Master Degree of Mechanical Engineering at Yonsei University, an MBA at HSE (Helsinki School of Economics) and a Ph. D. at ASSIST (a Seoul School of Integrated Science and Technology) for Business Management.

Steve has published several papers and released three books including; "Digital Manufacturing" in 2004, "Front Loading Innovation" in 2009 and "The secret of cost map" in 2012. Steve is now working on new book titled-"Product Complexity Management" to be published in 2015.